

Louisville Institute 2022 Pastoral Study Project Grants Announced

The Louisville Institute is pleased to announce Pastor Amy Zimbelman of Mountain States Mennonite Conference (Colorado Springs, CO) as a recipient of the 2022 Pastoral Study Project Grant Program for the project titled "Gathering Stories, Envisioning Equity: Towards a Peace Church where all leaders thrive, regardless of gender."

The Louisville Institute's Pastoral Study Project (PSP) offers pastoral leaders the gift of time and the resources to engage in focused inquiry related to the Christian life of faith, North American religious practices and institutions, or major challenges confronting contemporary society and the wider world. Through grants of up to $15,000, this program enables pastoral leaders to bracket daily work routines in order to pursue a pressing and significant question for the life of faith.

Rev. Dr. Aimee C. Moiso, the Institute's associate director, looks forward to welcoming this year's cohort of PSP grantees to a gathering together in Louisville in early February. "We are excited and humbled by the immense passion and creativity of our grantees. It is a joy to be able to support their projects and their ministries in this way. We are privileged to partner with these leaders and to see their projects flourish."
